

Assignment - Week 11 Day 3

This week is entirely composed of you creating React-Redux applications to enhance your muscle memory. Since I feel that it should not be tough at the beginning, your job is to completely convert your JavaScript monthly test to support Redux state management along with Redux-thunk as well as React components. The component architecture/styling/further enhancements are totally up to you.